

IPLEDGE

to stop the stigma associated with addiction

Words Matter What we say and how we say it makes a difference.

We can be a model and help to lead the way toward ending the opioid epidemic by using language that de-stigmatizes the disease of substance use disorder.

That means using terminology that recognizes that substance use disorder is a chronic illness, not a moral failing, and people can and do recover.

Why do words matter? Studies show that about one in 12 people with substance use disorder get treatment. Stigma is a key barrier. Using the right language, and putting the person first has a real impact on reducing stigma and helping people with substance use disorder seek and get the treatment they need.

We invite you to sign the Words Matter pledge, originally developed by the Grayken Center for Addiction at Boston Medical Center, and help us toward a goal of creating a stigma-free environment at our hospitals, universities, companies, and in our community.

NON-STIGMATIZING STIGMATIZING LANGUAGE LANGUAGE Person with a substance use disorder Substanceabuserordrugabuser Alcoholic Addict User Abuser Drunk Junkie Babies with an opioid dependency Addicted Babies/Born addicted Substance use disorder or addiction Drug habit Use, misuse Abuse Risky, unhealthy, or heavy use Problem Person inrecovery Abstinent Not drinking or taking drugs Clean Treatment or medication foraddiction Medication for Opioid Use Substitutionorreplacement therapy Disorder/Alcohol Use Disorder Medication-AssistedTreatment Positive, negative (toxicology screen) Clean, dirty results)

I believe that the words I use in talking about substance use disorder are important in reducing stigma. I pledge to treat all people with a substance use disorder with dignity and respect. I pledge to talk about addiction as a chronic illness, not a moral failing. I pledge to be a leader in reducing stigma and promoting recovery from this disease.

Full name:
Signature:
Date:		